DEDICATION

A CHEERFUL GREETING, a willingness to to serve, and a sympathetic understanding of students' problems have endeared Mr. Floyd H. Carson to all the Students of Wilkinsburg High School. His untiring efforts have been instrumental in retaining for our community, the school, the enviable reputation it enjoys for scholarship, progressiveness and the excellent school spirit so apparent on all occasions. To Mr. Carson, our principal and our friend, we, the Senior Class, gratefully dedicate the Annual of 1934.

FOREWORD

A COMMUNITY is a group of people who have common interests and privileges. As this definition applies to our school, we, the members of the staff of the 1934 Annual, have chosen the Community as the theme for our yearbook. By the organization of the Annual, by the titles chosen for the division pages, and by the art work, we have endeavored to tell the history of our year's work and to show the co-operative spirit and the friendly atmosphere of our growing community, the Wilkinsburg High School.

ENTRANCE TO AUDITORIUM

In Memoriam

Our hearts were saddened at the passing of our friend and companion, Mr. Jesse K. Townsend. We deeply appreciate the invaluable work done by him during his eighteen years as member of the School Board. During this time he was prominently identified with the building of the Johnston School, Horner Junior High, the Allison and the Senior High Annex.

He was cheerful and optimistic, courageous in his convictions, courteous in his manners, truthful and honest to his fellow men. It was said of him that "to him a public office was public trust."

We shall miss his wise counsel and efficient leadership which was an inspiration and challenge to all who knew him.

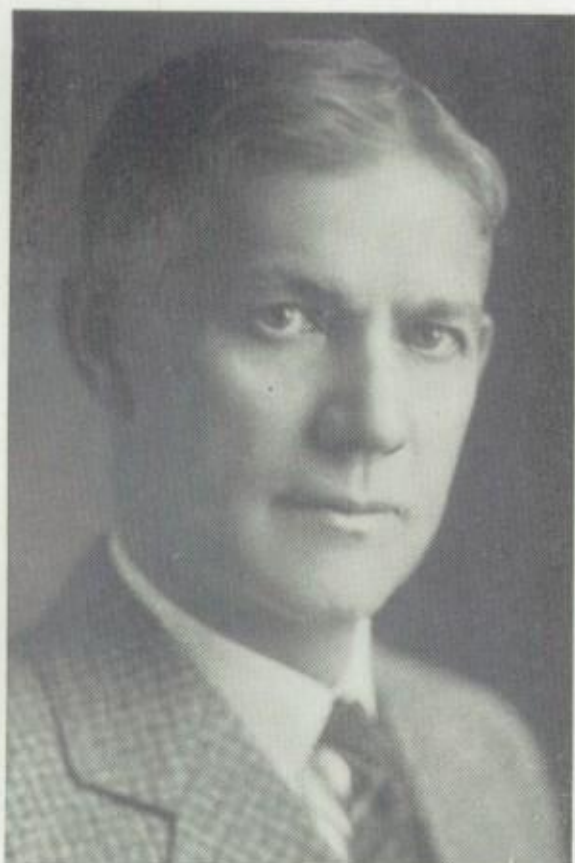

MISS VINNIE E. KNAPPENBERGER
1909—1934

An Appreciation

THE retirement from our faculty this year of Miss Vinnie E. Knappenberger, after twenty-five years of devoted service, brings to us a feeling of sincere regret.

Miss Knappenberger, as faculty advisor for the first Annual, as teacher, as adviser to girls, and as head of the English department, has always led the way to higher and finer values, to worthier tastes, to more gracious manners, and to higher intelligence. She has worked unceasingly to maintain the highest standards in the mental, moral, and physical welfare of those who came under her direction. Through her abiding faith in the young people of Wilkinsburg and through her understanding, courage, and cooperation, she has set for others a magnificent challenge. As teacher and leader she has rendered inestimable service and has won the esteem and respect of all those who call Wilkinsburg High School their school.

Although Miss Knappenberger severs her active participation in the affairs of our school, her genuine interest and joyful service will not cease. Her far-reaching influence and cordial friendship will remain an infinitely rich heritage.

MR. GRAHAM
Superintendent

OUR SCHOOL has progressed rapidly under the able guidance and supervision of Mr. William C. Graham, our superintendent. He is a native of Allegheny County, but taught two years in Butler County before coming to Wilkinsburg. He was made principal of this High School in 1903 and in January, 1929, after twenty-six years of able service, was appointed Superintendent of the Wilkinsburg Schools. He has been president of the Western Pennsylvania Inter-Scholastic Athletic League, the Upper Ohio Secondary Schools Association and The High School Section of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

"May the future hold as much success, Mr. Graham, as the past has held," is the wish of the Senior Class.

Work of the Community

Did you ever stop to think how much our high school is like a small community? It requires but a little use of the imagination to see that in this community we have, among other interests, business, religion, civil government, and entertainment.

The class room may be compared to the store: our studies, the goods for sale; the teachers, the sales people; the students, the customers.

As in any community, so in ours, the school, religion is an important factor. Daily, at ten o'clock, we attend chapel, where we have most impressive devotional services together, pausing for a few minutes to worship God with prayers and songs of praise.

In this, our small community, we have our political interests. Our government is democratic; the right of franchise is given to every student. This, the right of every citizen to vote, is given at the time of the election of members for the Activity Board, our representatives. The whole town turns out to hear the campaign speeches given by the managers of the candidates, at which time these managers orate eloquently upon the merits of their respective candidates. After all campaign speeches have been given, the citizens go to their home rooms, the polls, where the votes are cast.

Members of the Student Council are also elected by the citizens of our community, and once more the Vox Populi has been heard.

These two governing bodies look after some of the local problems of the town and plan methods whereby they may improve our community.

At times, many go to the town hall, which is also the village "Operry House", when we listen to plays and concerts produced by dramatic and musical members of our community.

Our social center is the gym, where many citizens, forgetting the "cares that infest the day", trip the light fantastic toe to the accompaniment of some well-known orchestra.

Sports and clubs provide an excellent opportunity for the citizens to use their leisure time to the best advantage. Those most interested in athletics may engage in football, baseball, basketball, or spring sports. Those who enjoy club life, and no community would be replete without its clubs, may have their choice of at least a dozen clubs, some of which are commercial, home economics, aviation, and language groups.

What community would be complete without a newspaper? Our community has its own press, the Wilkinsburg Hi-Ways, whose aim is to keep the citizens informed as to the news of the activities of the school and its leading citizens. Each year a resume of the work of the community is published under the title "The Annual" which gives a pictorial history of the year's work. It becomes the "who's-who" of the community, a copy of which is filed each year in our own library.

One organization in our school-community without a parallel in a non-school group is the National Honor Society, an organization composed of citizens of unusually fine character who have excelled in scholarship, leadership, and service.

Thus, community spirit and community interests are as well defined in this our small community as in any live, progressive town.

Activity Board

Chairman MR. CARSON
Secretary MISS ANDERSON

The most important organization in the Wilkinsburg High School is the Activity Board. This was first organized December 17, 1914, and as now, was composed of five student members and five faculty members. The students are elected for the entire high school period by popular vote of the student body, the faculty members are appointed by the principal.

Activity Board has two meanings in itself: First, it derives its name from the work it performs in taking care of all activities in the high school. All activities must pass the Activity Board and also all the funds are entrusted to the Board. Secondly, the word activity comes from a Latin word meaning full of action, which is characteristic of each member of the Board. When the chairman, Mr. Carson, assigns a certain duty to any one person he is assured of a rapid return of the report. The members are alert in suggesting their own ideas about problems which arise at meetings. The most recent problem which has come before the board is the matter of matinee dances for the young people once a month. This matter has been discussed at length and the results of same will come before the student body soon.

The meetings of the board are scheduled for every other Wednesday, and are held in room 205 at four o'clock. Some meetings keep its members until dinner time because of the many problems which come up. Problems such as managers for gym exhibitions, class night managers, purchasing robes for the a cappella choir, renting gowns for commencement and acting in response to various other needs of the school. The officers of this board are, Chairman, Mr. Carson; Secretary, Miss Jane Anderson; Treasurer, Miss Edith Smith. One can readily see and understand why this Board is the most important organization in the school.

Back row left to right: R. Nicholls, R. Wentworth, R. Hopkins, G. Glaes, M. Shull, W. Wilson, J. Annett, F. Tredinick, L. Owens, M. Nycum, E. Riley, E. Marshall, R. Arnold.

Student Council

President JACK ANNETT
Secretary MYRA ANNE SHULL

It is evident that in Wilkinsburg High School, a good school goes hand in hand with a good borough, but have you ever wondered what makes our borough and our school what they are? It is the governing organizations of the town, such as the Councils, which are responsible for the standards and high quality of the community.

Wilkinsburg High School has two similar forms of governing bodies which, although they are sponsored by faculty members, are controlled by the student population. These organizations, the Activity Board and the Student Council, are successful types of school government. The Student Council is the more representative of the two since its twenty-one members consisting of twelve seniors, six juniors, and three sophomores assure each class a fair representation in the direction of the school. The Council is directed by two capable sponsors, Miss Roney and Miss Long, appointed by Mr. Carson.

The duties performed at the "sessions" of this organization are numerous and varied. The annual duties for which the Council is responsible are the elections of cheerleaders and ushers, the maintenance of the information bureau and the chartering of clubs. In addition, various chapel programs are presented, letters and newspapers are sent to students to cheer them in their prolonged absence, and the ever present problems which confront the school are discussed.

The school has been greatly benefited by two new Student Council projects. A handbook, compiled by the Council, was so successfully presented to the student population that over 80% of the citizens purchased this useful pamphlet. A solution to the chapel problem was proposed by the Student Council. A Sophomore Chapel was put into effect and for the first time in the history of W.H.S., two gavels were struck and two preludes were played simultaneously, one ceremony being enacted in the new auditorium and the other in the old.

Such duties as these characterize the Student Council and prove that it is indispensable to the school.

Few of us realize the meaning or the social relations of the Parent-Teacher Association. The main object of the organization is to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may unite in an effort to understand better the needs and interests of children. It gives our parents an excellent opportunity to speak with the teachers; to confer so that they may know the school system. Teachers need an opportunity to find out something of the students' homes; knowledge of which affords them a better understanding of student problems. Another great object of the P.T.A. is to promote the welfare of children. It unites parents and teachers to improve homelife and to secure the protection and care of children. A thorough study and investigation of individual needs presents special work for such an organization. If emergencies arise, material aid is given without unnecessary attention of other persons.

The Parent-Teacher Association is a volunteer organization to which any parent, teacher, or citizen who is interested in children may belong. The members serve on committees and participate in programs, in order that they may share in the work of the association. Although entertainment is of minor importance, the programs are always of real value.

At the regular monthly meetings, prominent speakers are invited to address the association on topics based upon the chosen theme. Music by distinguished artists adds a definite enjoyment to the meeting. Students of the High School frequently present entertainment through the Play Production classes.

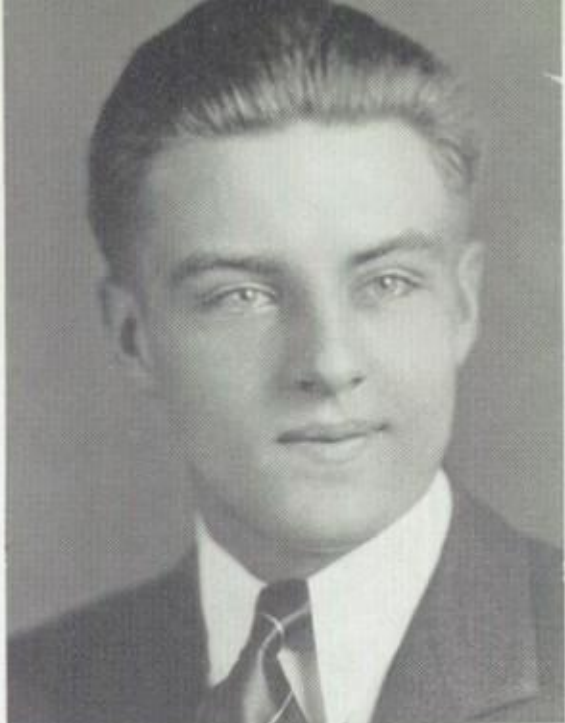

On February seventeenth the P.T.A. celebrated Founders' Day, commemorating not only the founding of the first Parent-Teacher Organization but also celebrating the second year of service of our Senior High School organization. A colorful pageant "Through the Years" was given, followed by the popular candle lighting ceremony "The Gift Bearers".

The annual spring exhibit, or "Open House", is an important event; for students, with the help of teachers, present their work in a valuable display. This enables parents to examine the work of their children. In this manner, the Parent-Teacher Association of Wilkinsburg High School is a constructive force in shaping the life of our youth.

WORKERS

HALL OF FAME

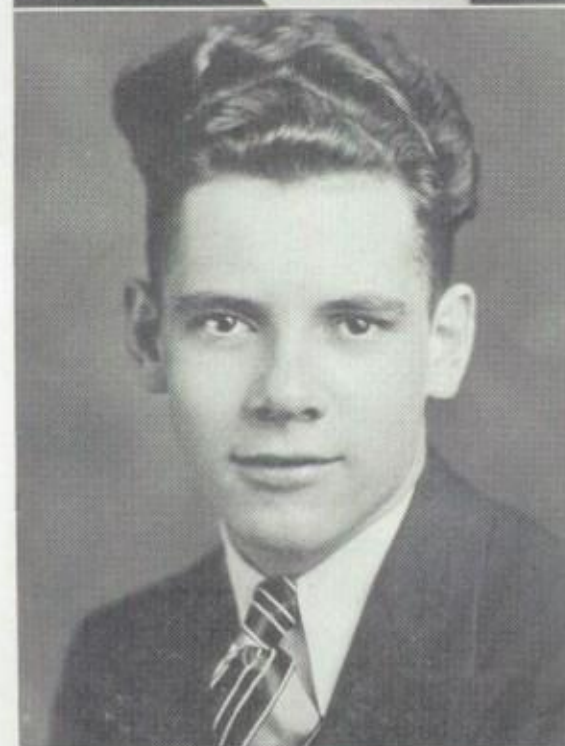

CLYDE KRUG

Clyde is the president of our senior class, and he certainly makes a good one. He has also shown us how a good guard should play, by his work on the football field. Here's to your success, Clyde.

VIRGINIA SLEPPY

Virginia won her popularity because of her participation in so many high school activities. Her charming personality and winning ways make her a friend to all. We predict a glorious future.

Dave

DAN THOMPSON

Dan has the unusual ability to play any popular piece on the piano. He leaves vacant a responsible position on the Activity Board. Friendliness, congeniality and humor are a few of his many admirable qualities.

Best Wishes Peg

MARGARET KUNSELMAN

"Peg's" sincerity and friendliness have gained her prominence in her high school career. She is a true friend to all who know her. She is absolutely trustworthy—, what more could anyone desire?

HALL OF FAME

JACK ANNETT

Jack won his way to the Hall of Fame because of his brilliant mind and fine character. He also excels in dramatics. He has had a leading part in most of our plays. Honors and fame will be his.

Elizabeth

ELIZABETH COATES

Elizabeth's duties and worries as Editor-in-Chief are over when the Annual "comes out." This does not take up all her time for she finds time for different clubs and keeps her name near the top of the honor roll.

JOE SUTER

Joe has the reputation of being the best natured boy in the Senior Class. What would the Annual Staff do without his cheerful smile and jokes?

FLORENCE INGRAM

Upon graduation, Florence leaves many responsible positions vacant. She is famous in our community for her ability as the violinist. The orchestra, many clubs, and, needless to say, the school will miss Florence.

Senior Class History

This June five hundred citizens will leave our community. This is the largest group ever to be graduated from Wilkinsburg High School. Besides the gradual increase in numbers with each year's succeeding class, the class of 1934 has, as an addition, those who otherwise would be known as mid-year graduates.

Because of this union of mid-year and spring classes our recollections of the first day in high school are varied. For some of us it was a cold, blustering day in January; while for others, it was a warm, balmy day in September. The class departed from the usual routine of reelecting the officers of the preceding year. Instead, Eleanor Cowell was chosen as the first girl to have the honor of being president of her class. Our first social venture was the Sophomore party.

This dance proved to the upperclassmen that the sophomores were capable of upholding their responsibilities. The sophomores were also very prominent when it came time to elect members to the activity board; there were nineteen of us "sophs" running for this coveted office. As usually happens when the party has too many representatives on the ballot, the vote was split and the other parties carried the election. During our second semester two of our number, Louise Miller and Jack Annett, were chosen for the cast of "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire". We were slowly emerging from our shells and gaining recognition from the upper classes. We found ourselves being mentioned more and more in the "Wilk Hi-Crier", which had just been published that year in place of the "Review".

Much more was expected of us as we stepped into the role of Juniors. When the ballots were counted after a stormy election, it was found that Clyde Krug was chosen president. Contrary to popular opinion there was a certain seriousness which came through added responsibility. We were now the "backbone" of the school, and it was our duty to uphold the high standards of Wilkinsburg High School by supporting all its activities. Jack Annett proved his capability by his outstanding performance in "Seventeen". Not only did we excel

JUNIORS in dramatic ability but we were also prominent in all the athletics. Kenneth Shaffer, Clyde Krug, Nick Fusco, and Alex Hughes were stars in football; Frank Thompson, Richard Cromlish and Robert Burnett were basketball stars. Tennis honors were won by Robert Burnett. It was from our class too that Florence Inghram, David Farkas, Louis Bruning, and Robert Truxal were chosen to represent our school at the National Music Supervisor's Conference. It was during this year that the name of the newspaper was changed from "Wilk Hi-Crier" to the "Wilkinsburg Hi-Ways".

At last we were ready to step into the leading role, for we had finally reached the senior rank. It was now our duty to set examples for other students to follow. As leaders in the school, we gave the greater part of our time to our lessons, thus maintaining the high standard of scholarship set by the seniors of former years. Many of our classmates were chosen to fill positions of honor and responsibility. Frances Wynn was elected editor-in-chief of SENIORS the "Wilkinsburg Hi-Ways". Elizabeth Coates was elected editor-in-chief of the Annual with Kay Glaesner as business manager and Joe Suter as advertising manager. The Student Council chose Jack Annett as its president. Once again members of our class were chosen for leading roles in the school play, "Tiger-House". Virginia Sleppy was chosen leading lady with Harry Sinewe and Jack Annett as supporting seniors. The Senior Prom closed our social year. Finally comes graduation. This will mean that each of us must go his own way to seek higher attainment.

In Memoriam

FRED WILSON KINNEY

Born April 1, 1916

Died May 24, 1933

The Senior Class lost a sincere and loyal member by the death of Fred Kinney. His enthusiasm, quiet cooperation and friendliness won for him many friends. He held an enviable scholastic record, being always on the honor roll. Although unable to participate in sports, he was very active in clubs and the social life of the school.

ROBERT MOREWOOD

Born December 26, 1916

Died April 2, 1934

The death of Robert Morewood has deprived the Senior Class of a worthy member. We remember him as a quiet, likeable boy who was an honor to our school. His death leaves a vacancy that shall never be filled, but his quiet influence will remain long with us.

Diary of a Senior Worker

SEPTEMBER

- 5 Now is the time my worries begin and the suntan disappears.
- 16 Hurrah! The team won their first football game 36—0 from Avalon.
- 23 They beat Schenley today 6—0. Not a very large margin, but I guess I'm too hard to please.
- 30 We got fooled that time. Crafton took us over 13—0. Oh, well!

OCTOBER

- 2 Now we're starting to get organized. The Home Room Managers elected officers for their new club.
- 3 Inter-Club Council was organized with a representative from each club.
- 7 That's too bad. We lost to New Kensington 20—0.
- 10 Sat around in drapes for half an hour—hope my pictures are worth it.
- 18 Found out all about where I am and why in the new Handbook issued by Student Council.
- 21 Jeannette—6, Wilkinsburg—0. Need more be said?
- 24 Most unusual chapel of year held today. Uncle Jack Miner was our guest speaker.
- 28 We're improving. We tied Swissvale 6—6.

NOVEMBER

- 3 Got a few white hairs seeing "Tiger House", but enjoyed it immensely.
- 11 Can our team play football! Wilkinsburg—19, Union—0.
- 17 Gentle Girl Reserve lasses and dashing young blades from the Hi-Y stepped the light fantastic.
- 23 The Ohio Psychological Test left me wishing for my good old Sophomore days once more.
- 29 Well, I need a Thanksgiving vacation!

DECEMBER

- 8 Mr. Townsend's memorial service injected a sad note into our school life today. Mr. Townsend was an esteemed member of the School Board.
- 12 Congratulations, Don Balsley, on your election to the Activity Board.
- 15 The Christmas spirit was spread today by our lovely Christmas Cantata.
- 20 Speech Department presented Dickens' CHRISTMAS CAROL. We were glad to see this favorite again.
- 30 What would the holidays be without the National Honor Society Dance?

JANUARY

- 3 We scientists got together for a meeting after school.
- 11 Hi-Ways Staff gave us a bit of Shakespeare up-to-date—and then some!
- 22 A Red-Letter Day! End of semester, report cards, and the crowning touch, our famous Senior Mid-Year Prom.
- 23 The team lost to Braddock's basketball team by 1 point. Better luck next time, boys.
- 26 We're on top of the world today; we beat Turtle Creek Union.

FEBRUARY

- 2 We had another dance to attend today—the Sophomores worked this time to make it a success.
- 9 Jack Frost nipped our ears today—coldest day we've seen in sixty years.
- 16 Swissvale Thespians entertained all Drama students after school.
- 22 George Washington is a pal! He had a birthday today.
- 27 Dr. Evans discussed "The Game of Life" in chapel.
- Spanish Club held an interesting meeting.

MARCH

- 2 If this keeps up, the gym will be worn out! Junior Irish Jig took place today.
- 6 Dr. Ockenga brought us up to date on the European situation.
- 13 Drama Club meeting—good program.
- 22 Le Cercle Francais held their annual open meeting this P.M.

APRIL

- 5 and 6 Spring Festival had two very successful performances.
- 12 Some of our more intellectual members went back to old Roman days at a Latin Club meeting.
- 20 I went to the Gym Exhibit today.
- 26 Well, the home folks found out today what keeps me busy up here; P.T.A. Open House was held.

MAY

- 7 The month started out with a Music Club meeting.
- 18 We danced for the last time as members of W.H.S. in the gym at the long-anticipated Senior Prom.
- 24 Well, we've done our best for you. "The Importance of Being Ernest" was our last dramatic effort.
- 25 Went to Kennywood and forgot I was supposed to be a dignified Senior.
- 29 I wish it weren't all over, but we entered the auditorium for the last time as students for Commencement exercises.
- 31 We just had to come back and visit chapel once more.

—HELEN STEWART.

Junior Class History

"A Fantasy"

Up came an earthquake and 'round went the world. The Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors of Wilkinsburg High School rolled out of their places of study and tumbled into a little red schoolhouse and the wings of time were speedily turned backward. Donald Balsley, the Junior Class president was found to be the one to take charge of this strange situation. Don and his assistant Beverley Bowen, the vice president, appointed Eleanor Bright, the secretary, to arrange the pupils in their right classes. Catherine Erney, the historian was asked to record the history of this unusual occurrence. After the class became settled and accustomed to their new surroundings, they started their reading lesson. The teacher, by name Duty, a tall stern-looking individual, with his trusty hickory stick near him, rose and called those who were to recite around his desk. The girls, Isabel Logan, Virginia Morrison and Florence Ray timidly read their parts first and then Karl Ulrey, Floyd Nicklas and Byron McLaughlin confidently recited from the rules of grammar. They were the "star" performers. These were some who had been chosen for the cast of "Tiger House" which was presented so that they might buy a few things for their school. "Tiger House" as had been predicted, was equally as great a success as "Seventeen", last year's play with Alice Summ and James Heckman performing. The reciters were sent back to their desks and the teacher passed the slates for the writing exercise. Florence Sando and Jack Rogers (on the Hi-Ways staff in Wilkinsburg) were drawing newspaper plans on their slates, not paying attention to the words the teacher was dictating. The master abruptly stopped speaking and walked up to those two, busy in the corner. He seized the slates. There were the slates covered with "jungles like" plans and clever sayings. Miss Fortune (or Misfortune) came to them and no play period was granted. Instead they put a Dummy to bed. A bell rang and there was a mad rush for lunch baskets. Play time always seemed too short for them. They hastily ate their lunches and then started to play games. Robert Merchant was pitching ball to Ken Manion but Ed Miller and Carl Shamburg had knuckled down to a game of marbles with Ed Wilson and Robert Rhodes. Since the boys refused to play "Farmer In the Dell", the girls were content with skipping rope and tumbling in the soft grass. All too soon, the bell clanged and they had to march back into the schoolroom. After recess, everyone seemed refreshed and eager for the arithmetic lesson which included some difficult questions. Lois Kramer, Earl Riley and Fred Tredinnich had donned their thinking caps to help solve a weighty problem. (They often wore those good luck charms at their Student Council meeting in Wilkinsburg.) All the solutions were discovered except one. Something was still perplexing them. What fiddler should they choose for their dance? That required some deep concentration. After the class finally found the right answer, they started to practice for the spelling bee. Suddenly, up came an earthquake, 'round went the world; the wings of time speedily brought them back again to their proper places, and out of a dream, pupils of the little red schoolhouse were once more the students of Wilkinsburg High School.

Senior Song

This eventful year has rolled around,
And Seniors now are we,
From the ranks of Soph'mores we have come;
Now we march triumphantly.

A sturdy band five hundred strong,
As we march thru the open door;
Life's quest, we'll start with a valiant heart,
The class of "Thirty Four."

CHORUS

Sing for our High School,
May our voices ring.
Sing for her glory,
Honor to her bring.
May all her efforts,
Guide us on our way.
Though we bid adieu, we will still be true,
To our dear old Red and Blue.

SECOND VERSE

For the past three years, we've studied hard,
In all things to excel;
Now we take our leave of thee, dear halls,
And our school we love so well.

As a parting word, may we say to you,
Dear old High, you'll ever be
The pride and joy of each girl and boy,
Our dearest memory.

—MARY NYCUM.

History of Athletics

Mr. Graham, more than anyone else, has been responsible for the development of our athletic program in Wilkinsburg High School. Prior to 1903 there had been no inter-scholastic athletics, but through his untiring efforts and the earnest cooperation of the students of that year a definite athletic program was formulated. Although handicapped by the lack of uniforms and other necessities, our first team enjoyed a very successful season. There were no uniforms, no suitable field, no coach, and only after a collection was taken among the students was a ball purchased. Daily the players walked to W.A.C. field to practice, and were finally rewarded by winning all four games played that season. This was the result of our first attempt at varsity football which gave us the Inter-Urban Championship in 1903.

In 1906 was the first hired coach when Dr. Joseph C. Edgar, a Pitt Medical student coached the team three nights a week for a period of three weeks.

D. C. and A. C. park became the high school football field in 1907. That year, Coach Chester B. Storey's team won seven games out of eight. Encouraged by the success of the football team, a basketball squad was organized. Players and spectators turned out with enthusiasm and the "Royal Roller Skating Rink" became the center of interest for basketball with the team winning thirteen out of eighteen games played.

Three years later, in 1910, our first track team was organized, and in 1911, the Wilkinsburg track team under the leadership of Mr. J. H. Edgerton defeated Pittsburgh High School for the first time in their history.

Coach William G. Marshall directed the football team in 1914, which brought us our first W.P.I.A.L. championship, and the opening of Graham Field. Our team again won the W.P.I.A.L. championship in 1915 and also in 1916. To Coach Marshall and the teams of these three years, we are greatly indebted for establishing a three year record which has never been surpassed. In 1917, Coach E. E. Hicks was director of athletics, followed by J. W. Mates in 1919.

The year 1922 was unique in that two W.P.I.A.L. championships were won, one in football and one in basketball. The football squad under Coach Harry M. Springer won all games played, and added the Syracuse trophy to our growing collection, by defeating Washington High School in a brilliant game played at Forbes Field. The basketball team of that year won their W.P.I.A.L. championship and also the Western Pennsylvania championship.

Mr. Edward Ege, a former football star and graduate of Wilkinsburg High, became the athletic director in 1924, assisted by Mr. John Browning and Mr. C. D. Jeffry as football coaches. In 1926 Wilkinsburg was defeated by Washington for the W.P.I.A.L. championship. In 1927 the grandstand was built at Graham Field. In the years 1926, 1927, and 1928 Wilkinsburg totaled twenty-three victories against only three losses and three ties. Mr. Elmer E. Carroll, came in 1927 to direct the athletics of Wilkinsburg High School through seven successful years.

Each year a new page is added to the record of our school's athletics. Our school is indebted to those who strove so valiantly to bring the standard of Wilkinsburg athletics to the high place it holds today. It is impossible to name and thank all these. Our trophy cases are filled with evidence of the fruit of their labors. To Mr. Graham, the founder of our great project, we wish to express our heart-felt gratitude for his efforts which have resulted in such a glorious history for the athletics in Wilkinsburg High School.

Football Squad

Although the 1933 football season was not so successful as those of the past few years, it was one of which the team, the coaches, and the student body may justly be proud. Of the nine games played Wilkinsburg was victorious in four encounters, was defeated in four, and played one tie game. The players under the direction of Coach Carroll displayed true sportsmanship and although young and inexperienced, they were always a credit to our school.

This year with a team not so successful as before the student body showed the same co-operation and lasting loyalty previously tendered only to winning teams, loyalty that members of the squad will always remember, especially those seniors who have played their last game under the colors of the Red and Blue. To these seniors, and the rest of the squad we extend our heartiest congratulations.

Basketball

Although registering more points for the season's total than their opponents, the Wilkinsburg High School basketball team was unable to reach the .500 mark, losing eleven of the eighteen games played. Yet, the players, under the able direction of Coach Elmer Carroll, turned in many fine performances against the exceptionally strong teams that form our section of the W.P.I.A.L.

We wish to give special mention of the personnel of the squad. Captain Bill Barr was the mainstay of the Wilkinsburg offense and was rewarded for his fine playing by being placed on the all-section first team. John Mitchell, John Knee, and Frank Thompson were the other seniors. Ken Manion, a junior, was placed on the all-section second team. In him and in the other juniors, Bob Merchant, George Kanuck, Ed Miller, and Stanton Brown, lies our hope for a more successful record next season.

The Girl's Leaders Club

President	ALBERTA JEREMIAS
Vice President	VIVIAN BEHM
Secretary	MARY BRINDLEY
Treasurer	ELIZABETH LEMMER

The Girl's Leaders Club is composed of those girls who excel in gymnastic work. The club consists of sixty members. Twenty of these members were newly elected this year filling the vacancies of those girls who were graduated the year preceding.

To be a member of the club, a girl must be able to complete successfully gymnastic work, such as, marching, tumbling, apparatus, games, self-testing activities and the Athletic Badge test. This Badge test takes up part of the class periods in the first semester. The practicing for each test is allowed in ten minute periods, during which time the gym class is divided evenly into six divisions; as each group works on a different test. When the signal is given, the groups move on to the next test. Those completing four of the six tests are entitled to a certificate and an Athletic Badge. Practice in other gymnastics is completed during the remainder of the class periods that semester. This work is done as a class.

The Girl's Leaders Club plans and participates in the annual spring Play Day, which is becoming one of the most popular events of the spring. They also take an active part in our Gym Exhibition. The Girl's Leaders Club deserves much credit for the good work they have done and we hope it continues.

Baseball

Nine victories and only three defeats were tallied as a result of the 1933 baseball season. Wilkinsburg High School should feel justly proud of the fine showing made by this athletic team. There was little backing by the student body, but nevertheless the baseball season resulted in greater success than any other phase of athletics of this year. Turner Field was the scene of many well-played games, not only because of the good coaching, but also because of the earnest efforts of all who participated in these games.

Track

Our track team last year was made up of boys who were entirely inexperienced in this type of athletics. Considering this decided handicap, the team was able to enjoy a fairly successful season. Our school had representatives in two meets at the Pitt Stadium and had the opportunity to compete with the best track teams of the city. Most of the important meets in which Wilkinsburg was represented were held at other schools, and consequently, afforded little opportunity for a good student backing. Plans are being made for this year's track team, and the boys who participated in last year's team should be congratulated for their good work in forming a team that was a nucleus as well as a credit to Wilkinsburg High School.

The Gym Club

The Gym Club was founded for those boys who already excel on the various apparatus of the gym. Its purpose is to provide a recreation period for the promoting of good fellowship and a spirit of friendly competition among its members. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors who are able to pass the entrance tests. The club, under the sponsorship of Mr. J. E. Browning and Mr. D. M. K. Shupe, forms the nucleus of the Gym Exhibition.

Tennis

With six decisive victories and only two defeats, our tennis team won its laurels on the tennis court last season. Our team played in the semi-finals of the W.P.I.A.L. championship at the Pitt courts. We were defeated, however, and lost an opportunity to continue into the finals of this tournament. Our home games were played at the Green Street Courts. It is interesting to note that all the games won by the team were shut-out games. This fact alone is sufficient to show the strength of our team.

Intra-Mural Athletics

During the past four years Intra-Mural sports have played an important part in the athletics of Wilkinsburg High School. Its diversified program has presented an opportunity to both boys and girls to participate in their favorite form of athletics. Each year has shown a marked increase in interest and enthusiasm toward these sports. This year approximately one hundred and eighty boys played on the basketball teams alone. Mushball, volleyball, swimming, and others made up the list of possible types of recreation for all who were interested. Skill was not required; it was, rather developed. All the games were played for the sheer enjoyment of sport.

Girls, too, had an opportunity to participate in Intra-Mural athletics. This year the Intra-Mural Basketball for the girls was under the direction of Miss Evangeline Jaffurs. At the beginning of the season, about a hundred girls reported to play basketball. They were divided into teams and each team chose a name and a captain. The names of animals were selected for their teams and The Menagerie Round Robin Tournament was held. Each team played nine games. From a list of the most outstanding players, a team was formed which would represent the high school in a game with the Alumnae team.

Probably nothing has ever stimulated the interest in all types of athletics as has the introduction of Intra-Mural sports. The fact that so much interest has been displayed on the part of all is in itself sufficient evidence to prove the value of this movement. It is our wish that in years to come this program may move forward with such enthusiasm on the part of all that it will always hold an important place in the realm of Wilkinsburg High School athletics. For the past four years Intra-Mural sports have been a regular part of the athletic activities, and have helped greatly to raise the mental, moral and physical standards of our school.

The Annual

The Annual, one of the best-loved traditions of Wilkinsburg High School, is a year book presenting the various sides of student activity and portraying the glorious attributes of our school. The Annual began fourteen years ago, when the class of 1922 published it in place of the Senior edition of the Review, under the able guidance of Miss Vinnie Knappenberger. The first book was called the "Wilk-Hi-Scan"; the following year, it was given its present name. The aim of the publication is to preserve the events and activities of the school year in book form. The Annual is edited by a staff of seniors selected by the Activity Board. The auxiliary members are under classman appointed by the main staff. Although the year book is not off the press until the first week in May, the staff is organized to begin work the last week of September. In planning a year book, the first problem is working out a budget; next, a theme is chosen. This may either be abstract, like this year's, or concrete, like the Washington theme two years ago. The theme sets the style for both the written and art work. The choice of cover, too, is governed somewhat by the general theme. In the early fall, senior pictures are taken, followed by the various club pictures. The sales campaign, too, starts at this time. From the first staff meeting until the last picture is sent to the engraver and the final copy is at the printers, the staff is kept busy securing and editing copy, checking senior pictures and activities, soliciting advertisements, and pushing the sale. Finally, in May, the staff's work is over, and the Annuals are distributed. When the student reaction has been found, a copy of The Annual is sent to the National Scholastic Press Association for comparison with books from other schools. The last two years we have received an A rating; there is only one higher—the All-American. This record challenges each succeeding class to equal or surpass such a high standard.

The Hi-Ways

Let's follow the construction of an issue of our bi-weekly newspaper, the Wilkinsburg Hi-Ways. Following the tips given them by the hard-working editor, Frances Wynne, the news-hounds begin scouting for news several days before the paper goes to press. When it is in, the real work begins. Every bit of copy must be read, corrected, typed, and re-read. After the copy is finally typed, the editor and her assistant, Louise Miller, again go over it; Miss Rhoda Beatty, the faculty adviser, then gives her approval. When the copy has gone to the printer, there is a brief respite until the galleys come back. The proof reading begins; again everything is re-read, and names, dates, spelling, and punctuation checked. The make-up editor, Jack Rogers, plans the arrangement of the pages and makes up the dummy from the galley sheets. He is responsible for the fine appearance of our "Hi-Ways". The dummy is placed in the printer's hands, and in two days time it is ready for distribution. Under the supervision of the circulation manager, Bruce Philips, the papers are distributed to the home rooms, where they go on sale. Each home room manager takes care of his own customers, and Byron McLaughlin, the business manager of the paper, collects and totals their earnings.

As the aim of every newspaper and every newspaper man is to get a "scoop" so is the aim of the Hi-Ways and its reporters. They "scooped" the class elections, the Activity Board finals and announced the class committees and other events ere we were aware of their happenings.

The paper produced by this competent group of workers is a regular four page newspaper, varied by double column articles, cuts, and boxes on the front page; editorials, the masthead, "Who's Who", and "Corridor Clippings" on the second page; Floyd Nicklas' snappy sports write-ups, "Tiger Tales", and "From the Sidelines", on the third page; and a variety of features, interviews, and exchanges on the last page.

A Cappella Choir

The aims of the a cappella choir are to promote culture and refinement in our school by pursuing the finest in vocal music. To this end, it was made a solid subject this year. Try outs are held every year and only those who can pass these examinations are eligible for election.

The choir has earned the distinction of representing our school over a larger area than any other group. It has made use of the radio in its programs, having sung over one of the largest of local stations. Another means by which the choir has increased its popularity is that of presenting cantatas in the various local places; also, it sings every noon during the annual town Holy Week Services.

All the work of this organization, however, is not done outside the school. Our daily chapel services would lose a great part of their beauty if the choir were not there to sing the responses. Then too, it is the foundation of the annual Christmas concert, which is usually given twice, each time to a full house. Proceeds from these performances were presented to the School Fund for welfare work. At all public appearances, the members of the choir wear beautiful robes of blue velvet and red satin, the colors of the school.

Zoom! zoom! says the bass viol, tootle-tee-tootle answers the fife, so one by one the various instruments of the orchestra can be heard, as we enter chapel each morning. Not only for our daily chapel is the orchestra in demand but for all the plays and programs given by our students. It was an added feature for "Tiger House"; it played an important part in the Christmas Cantatas, and in the Spring Musical Festival.

Boom. rat-a-ta-tat, rat-a-ta-tat, rat-a-ta-tat-tat. Here comes the band, gay in the red and blue uniforms. Up and down the football field they march, forming intricate figures, finally ending with the famous "W", which calls forth a rousing cheer from an enthusiastic crowd. The hearts of the students and alumni alike are thrilled as the band plays "Onward High School" and "For You High".

The German Club of the Wilkinsburg High School is the oldest club, but because of the high standards required, it is the smallest of all the clubs in the school. Its members are selected from the advanced class only, consisting of students who are interested in learning more of the German language, customs, and songs.

The meetings of this club are held in the various homes of the students. The different members contribute to the program in German plays and songs. At the end of the school year the club plans a picnic for its members.

The Spanish Club of Wilkinsburg High School is composed of students who have completed at least one semester of Spanish, who are still in the department, or who have completed the two-year course. It is the purpose of the club to promote interest in Spanish, and to use the language as much as possible. Spanish is spoken in the business and social periods of our meetings. Our officers are a president, a vice president, a secretary, a treasurer, and appointed chairmen of standing committees. We hold at least two meetings each semester in the evening during which time we are entertained by the presentation of plays, poems, and music by the members of the clubs.

These salesmen, commonly known as Home Room Managers, are chosen, one from each room, to take charge of the paper sales, football tickets, and Annual subscriptions. Every other Thursday, one notices these Home Room Managers hurrying to their districts to sell their papers.

When your Home Room Manager thought you looked like a prospective buyer (of an Annual) he delivered to you this speech: "Now if we don't sell at least seven hundred Annuals this year, there won't be any Annual for your class! Besides the Junior Class is the backbone of the school, so be an obliging vertebra and 'Buy an Annual'". So you realize that our Home Room Managers are none other than the "High Pressure Salesmen" of our Community.

The Chess Club

The Chess Club is one of the most recent additions to the diversions offered by the Wilkinsburg High School. The club is sponsored by Mr. Robert Helmbold and is governed by a president, Alfred Barry; a vice president Arthur Knee; a secretary-treasurer, William Quigley; and an assistant secretary-treasurer, Roberta Gross. The purpose of this club is to promote and teach the game of chess and to provide competition between members and chess clubs of other schools. Meetings are held every Tuesday and instructions on the various openings, defensive and offensive moves, and check-mating are given at the meetings by the sponsor. Any student, is eligible to join and all faculty members are welcome to attend the meetings.

ARTHUR KNEE

School Aides

Sometimes we think that little recognition is given to those students who work faithfully day after day in the various offices. These students hold a very responsible position. In Mr. Getter's office, they check the number of absentee slips as issued, help keep a record of the tardy students, prepare and type the morning and afternoon absentee list, answer phone calls, and in general, act as messenger "boys".

Another group of students collect the absentee slips from the various report rooms and file them in Mr. Getters office for recording.

Several girls are chosen to work in the office of Miss Reitz. Under her direction they assist in recording and filing the various records and reports which must be handled in the dean's office.

Several students report to the office of the secretary to the principal to assist in what ever way they may be needed. In a school as large as ours, there are many times when students are called to the office for conference, in response to parents request and other reasons; then it is that one of these "aides" are sent to summon them.

The last group of "aides" are those under the direction of Miss Betty Newell who assist her in checking books "in" and "out," also mending and replacing them on the shelves.

The students who are chosen for each one of these positions consider it a special honor. To some there is an opportunity to gain definite office practice; to others, an introduction to library methods. As each student works under careful supervision the work gives practical training in meeting responsibilities.

Inter Club Council

The Inter Club Council is one of the newest organizations of our school. It was formed at the beginning of this school year with a definite purpose in view—to bring about a closer relationship between clubs and to discuss the work that is being done in each of the clubs.

Representatives to the council are chosen or appointed by the club presidents, and the council meets every other Tuesday under the able leadership of Mr. Floyd Carson.

Although in its infancy, the Inter Club Council has become one of the successful organizations of our school.

The activities of the Science Club, the membership of which is made up of students in the department, are varied and interesting. At the meetings, usually held after school, discussions by the members themselves keep the students in touch with the happenings in the world of modern science. Frequently there are interesting demonstrations which illustrate some of the uses to which scientific discoveries can be put. In these demonstrations, an attempt is made to use equipment, which all the students enrolled in the science department would not otherwise see. For example, the department owns some X-ray equipment which is used at least once a year at a club meeting. Sometimes moving pictures of the work done in industrial plants and factories are shown.

In addition to the regular meetings, interesting trips are planned each year. Two of the most outstanding this year were the visits to the Fairmont Creamery and the Weather Bureau. They visit two or three other nearby scientific establishments.

Under the direction of its able advisors, Mr. W. S. Woodburn and Mr. C. D. Jeffrey, the Science Club has made great progress since its founding.

GENERAL COMMITTEE

RAY GROVE, WILLIAM BOYLE, REGIS WADE

The prevalent practice of today is for people of similar desires and tastes to organize. This desire has found its way into our own community, the school. The drama minded, the scientific minded and the commercial minded citizens of this, our community, had organized; so why not the aviation minded. Accordingly twenty senior boys, the future Lindberghs, Langleys, and Wrights organized an aviation club.

These meetings are held at times most convenient for all in the auto shop. Under the able direction of Mr. Thomas H. McClymonds, they discuss aviation of today and tomorrow and the possibilities of aviation as a vocation.

However, not all their time is taken up with discussion, for the boys have acquired a 12 cylinder "V"-type Liberty airplane engine, the mechanism of which they were studying with the purpose of later putting it into good working condition.

The fondest hope of the club members is that, in the near future, they will have an army airplane from which they may learn the fundamentals of airplane construction, operation and maintenance.

The club, realizing what the work has meant, is anxious that others may become interested in it and will continue the work after they are graduated.

Tiger House

Preparation: Many tryouts—weeks of intensive practicing—construction—back-stage work—persistent advertising—all these preceded the presentation of one of the most successful, though technically difficult, high school plays.

The Play: It was weird play of madmen, tigers, robbery, secret passages, and shrieks. Its author, Robert St. Clair, chose the title Tiger House, a name which revealed nothing but the fact that it was a mystery.

The Story: Tiger House was a dreary New England home willed to Irma Lowrie by her Aunt Sylvia, an unscrupulous woman who had risked her life stealing a costly diamond collar. Her aunt's will required that Miss Lowrie should live in the house two years before it should become legally hers. Her adventures during the first few days were thrilling.

Management: Tiger House was directed by Miss Sara Parson, with Miss Charlotte McMurray as technical advisor. The student managers were Regina Fudala and Bob Clark.

—KARL ULREY.

The Importance of Being Earnest

The senior play this year is Oscar Wilde's comedy, based on the theme of mistaken identity, The Importance of Being Earnest. Under Miss McMurray's direction, the cast portrays the adventures of Jack Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff and their lady-loves, the sophisticated Gwendoline Fairfax and the sweetly simple Cecily Cardew. Haughty Lady Bracknell, gentle Miss Prism, pompous Reverend Chasuble, and Lane and Merriman, stiffest of stiff butlers, all contribute to the sparkling humor of the play.

National Honor Society

President CHARLES GOOD
Vice President CLYDE KRUG
Corresponding Secretary MARGARET KUNSELMAN
Recording Secretary MARY BOYD

One of the easiest ways to identify leading citizens—those most interested in civic betterment and community life—is to find those who wear the well-known pins of the Rotary, Lions, or Kiwanis Club. In Wilkinsburg High School the leading citizens are those privileged to wear the insignia of the National Honor Society. This pin, a gold keystone with a flaming torch, is a distinctive mark that the wearer won the highest honors the school can confer upon him.

To be eligible for membership in the Society, one must be in the upper third of his class scholastically, and must have the qualities of character, leadership, and service. To be eligible in character, the student "must meet his individual obligations to the school promptly and completely, and demonstrate an honest spirit in his class work, and a spirit of cordiality and sincerity toward teachers and student associates." Serving one's school in every way possible comes under the heading "Service". Leadership may best be defined as the ability to head his fellow classmates in any or all activities. The names of those scholastically eligible are voted upon by the faculty. Five percent of the Junior A's listed may be elected, ten percent of the Senior B's, and fifteen percent of the Senior A's. Under these conditions two hundred and sixty-four people have been elected, since 1929, to carry on the traditions of the Wilkinsburg National Honor Society.

While our civic leaders do not meet every week for lunch, as do their prototypes in the outside city, they do have a regular schedule of meetings which includes an induction service, held in chapel, and two social functions, one held during the Xmas vacation, and the other in May. Induction services always include a short speech by the president and an address by a guest speaker whose career has made him worthy of student respect and emulation.

In Action

Elizabeth Coates, Kay Glaesner, and Helen Stewart, three industrious workers on the Annual.

We wonder if they study like this all the time, or only when the photographer is around.

A scene in a mechanical drawing class; where they learn to make pretty pictures with black ink.

Industrious German students writing exercises on the board.

This is what typing teachers mean when they say "Keep your eyes on the copy."

This student in Zoology Lab. is taking all the hop out of that grasshopper.

No, that's not a new fangled machine gun that Gordon Glaes is hanging on-to, it's the projector with which he flashes on the hymn and announcements each morning.

Is there a Latin student in this school who doesn't recognize this synopsis?

That's Corrine MacLennon concocting a Latin sentence. Did you recognize her? And 218's bulletin board behind her?

Agnes Cox and John Halderman in the Chem. Lab. We hope it doesn't blow up.

How can these two little girls carry so many books? Frances Zahrobky and Dorothy Hepp use them all, too.

The editor-in-chief, sports editor, and make-up editor of the Hi-Ways get together on some knotty problems.

Keep right on with your work, please. You've surely seen birdies before.

Bob Rhodes and Dick Young doing a little homework, the less the better, eh boys?

Another scene in study hall; but these boys aren't even trying to look studious!

Looks luscious, we'd say. If you've ever walked past the Domestic Science rooms, you know it smells luscious, too.

At Work

If you don't think a picnic is work, just ask any member of this French Club.

Bob Seybold patiently awaiting the Spanish Club. Problem, find the Club.

Bill Wilson snatches a few moments of study while at the St. Council Information Desk.

Believe it or not, this is not a geometry proposition, Jean Aungst insists that she is explaining Merchant of Venice.

Three pretty maids all in a row, Beam, Koch, Hoerner.

A ray of sunshine, our own Florence.

Five steps in education. Ask them for their autographs.

The Biesecker twins, Calvin and Betty on their way to learn their A, B, C's.

Three little girls from school are we: Brumall, Beam and McKechnie, three busy B's.

Yes, you are right, it is a geometry lesson this time, the beginning of the eternal triangle.

Mr. McCauley quit firing long enough during the cold weather to smile at the inquiring photographer.

Kenny Shaffer at the finish of a two-mile kiddy car race. Ask Kenny, he will tell you about it.

Mr. Getter declares this croaker race at the National Honor Society picnic is no dry affair.

At Play

Nothing like a swim on a warm summer day. What do you think, Dot?

This looks like a stag party but its really a group at the French Club picnic.

These soldiers would give West Point cadets something to think about, eh Dot?

Ready to give an outdoor sample of the Gym Exhibition.

Eleanor's team must have won. Look at that smile on her face.

Join the Navy to see the world.

Dot, Love leading her trio in a regular sailor's hornpipe dance.

Margaret was one of our aesthetic dancers.

About face, girls. We want to see your faces.

These three chorines must have come straight from Broadway.

Who is having fun now? Betty won't claim all the arms.

Virginia, Jeannette and Florence are ready to "Shuffle Off to Buffalo."

Somebody must have been quick with the cameras. Eh, girls?

Be careful, Roger. That might break. At least Don thinks so.

Another attractive aesthetic dancer; happy, too, is our Jane.

In Lighter Vein

Our favorite type of landscape is one with a pretty girl.

Sailing, sailing, over the bounding main! You're wise to sit near the life-boats, Dot.

Believe it or not, Estelle does stand still sometimes. We offer this picture as proof.

The flowers are very becoming, Ken.

Hazel Kagarise and those Lewis kids, Lucky and Louise, all dressed up—and no place to go?

Beauty and the Beast, in this case, the Beast is not so hard on the eyes, either Betty.

Doris Hartson seems to be on top here! Why not let her fall, Naomi and Margaret?

Alex, Ken, and Triggie, one almost expects them to jump up, and, with a bloodcurdling yell, swing away through the tree tops.

That's some fish story, Roger, but we have to accept it. Seeing's believing.

Martha Jane Bell, ready for her morning canter, stops to show us her thoroughbred.

They say the cow is the most patient of animals, but we wouldn't try too hard to find out, Emerson.

Clara Belle Fisher blowing up her balloon at the French Club picnic. We hope it doesn't break.

All lined up for a good rousing game of jolly old leap frog, eh what?

A group of girls "grinning" at the camera. It must be funny. Some mischief brewing!

FRENCH CLUB

See page 96

The French Club is composed of students who have studied the French language for at least two semesters, and who want to increase their knowledge of French customs.

The meetings, held twice a semester, are conducted entirely in French; the programs are very entertaining and are made up almost entirely of student work. They usually contain short plays and songs, either by a few performers or by the whole club. These songs may be original French, or English words translated. Sometimes the club is fortunate in having as guests French speakers and other outside performers. This year, at the Christmas meeting, Madame Michel, a Frenchwoman who has made her home in this country, read several French stories which delighted the audience. At the same meeting, Beth Gose, an alumna and former active member of the club, sang several French songs.

In addition to its regular meetings, each Spring, the French Club holds an open meeting which is unique in the club work of our school. To this meeting are invited the friends and relatives of the members; that they come in such numbers as to fill more than half the seats of the auditorium is definite proof of the popularity of these programs, for which all the available student talent is used. This year the program was called "An Evening in Toyland," and included The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, The Wedding of the Painted Doll, and a Donkey Dance, as well as such historical figures as Marie Antoinette and Louis the Fourteenth, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Other activities of the club are the spring picnic, and a chapel week during which programs are presented showing some of the work of the department.

LATIN CLUB

See page 97

The most popular club in school, if the amount of dues is any indication, is the Latin Club; at each of its meetings the Old Auditorium is filled to capacity. Because of the size of this group, it is really quite an honor to become an officer. Those who were thus honored this year were Virginia Sleppy and Dan Thompson, the two consuls, or chairmen; Byron McLaughlin, the quaestor, or treasurer; Catherine Erney, the praetor, or chairman of the program committee; Harry Lane, the aedile, or marshal; and Adele Horner, the scriba, or secretary. At meetings, these officers are referred to by their Latin names, as their various duties correspond very nearly to those of the officials in the government of a Roman city.

The programs this year were unusually interesting. They included plays, some given entirely in Latin; readings of various types; reports on different phases of Roman life pointing out its likeness to life in modern times; and group singing of songs translated from the English into Latin.

At the conclusion of these programs, refreshments were served. In addition to being the largest of the clubs, the Latin Club has the reputation of being the best fed. A pleasant social period follows the refreshments, and the members dance and chatter in a most un-Roman way.

The sponsors of this interesting group are Miss Ella Hockenberry, Miss Irma Hamilton, and Miss Helen Shuster.

DRAMA CLUB
See page 95

Just as every well balanced modern community has various clubs and organizations that contribute to its social life; so we have similar ones, connected with our various departments, in our school community. In these organizations, the work of the particular department is further carried out on a social and informal basis. Among these, the Drama Club has come to play a leading role.

The Drama Club as it is today would hardly be recognized by anyone present at its founding several years ago. When Miss Agnes Hewitt, a former teacher of speech in our school, called together her speech enthusiasts to form the Drama Club, a meager number responded. The fifteen or sixteen members, with their advisors, held their first meeting seated around on the floor of the little auditorium stage. However, their enthusiasm was unconquerable and the organization grew and grew until its membership now numbers well over a hundred, it being one of the largest clubs in the school.

Today, under the guidance of Miss Charlotte McMurray and Miss Sara Parson, the organization has continued its progress and its pursuit of the drama. At its meetings, held twice a semester, varied programs are enjoyed. Many outsiders connected with dramatic work are guest speakers at its meetings, short plays are presented by members of the speech department, and musical selections vary the programs. Last year, a poetry reading contest was held, an entirely new venture of the Drama Club. Also this year, plays were purchased for future use of the club from the club treasury.

Robert Clark, a Senior, was chosen by the members as President of the Drama Club for this year, Floyd Nicklas, a Junior, holds the office of vice-president; Lois Kramer is the secretary; and Joe Suter, the treasurer. These officers have tried to make this the most successful year that the Drama Club has yet experienced.

Sophomore Workshop

Another part of the dramatic movement in Wilkinsburg High School is the Sophomore Workshop. It was first organized in 1932, but for various reasons was discontinued last year. This year it was reorganized under the sponsorship of Miss Sara Parson.

At the first meeting a large number of sophomores came to the Old Auditorium to organize the club. Miss Parson explained that the Workshop would take the place of the Drama Club for Sophomores, and that in it they were to have meetings of the same kind that the upper-classmen enjoy in the Drama Club. The Sophomores responded with enthusiasm to her speech and almost all those present signed the roll. Elections were held, and the following officers were chosen: president, Willis Dickson; vice president, Rachel Kirk; secretary, Betty Piper; and treasurer, Charles Cooper.

As part of its work this year, the Workshop prepared one-act plays. Two of these, Applicants and Mrs. Peabody's Boarder, were given at a Drama Club meeting. The players were glad to find a new "public", and the "public" was delighted with the new actors.

As this group is much smaller than Drama Club, the members have a much greater opportunity to do things and become active members of their club.

Play Production

During the last few years, the "Little Theatre" movement has spread over the entire country, taking hold in cities and town, universities, prep schools, and high schools. Wilkinsburg High School's little theatre was founded by the play production classes of the Speech Department. In these classes the members are instructed in the history of drama, in stage technique, and in the fundamentals of acting and directing. The student's appreciation of better drama is cultivated by reporting on the finest of the available plays. After they have had this preliminary class training, the classes divide into groups, each made up of a student director and his chosen cast. Students are allowed to make a choice between directing and acting; in most cases, directors did both, and in some cases they directed more than one play. The plays are chosen by the directors, who are not restricted in their choice, except that they must use one-act plays. As a result, there was a great variety in the play-bill this year; we saw a play in Irish brogue, a comedy with villains, an O'Neil tragedy, and a psychological study, among others.

Two of these plays are given once a week after school, in the large auditorium; the audience is composed of members of the Speech Department. From time to time, casts have been fortunate enough to be invited to give their plays before outside groups such as the P. T. A. and different women's clubs. At one of the afternoon performances, the Swissvale Thespians, a similar group from one of our neighboring schools, gave Who Says Can't?; later, they invited our group to present three plays at one of their Drama Club meetings, and the casts of It Will Be All Right on the Night, Ile, Murder, Murder, Murder, were chosen to perform.

At each performance, members of the Stage Craft class are responsible for the arrangement of the stage, the scenery, and the lighting and sound effects.

Here it is at last! A club for all of the members of the Commercial Department. Anyone who is taking two or more commercial subjects is eligible for this club and we certainly have had good turn outs, considering, of course, that the club is only two years old.

At the first meeting, there were 108 commercial students present. After having musical selections from some of the members of the club, Ted Stephens spoke to us about "The Game of Life," which was very interesting. At the second meeting, we had a picture about Accountancy.

The club has four meetings a year and they are held at school for the purpose of binding the commercial students together socially and to discuss problems of the commercial world.

The club advisers are Miss K. Covil, Miss M. Wright, Mr. W. Berry, Mr. G. Campbell and Mr. H. T. Griffith.

The Home Economics Club was organized last semester under the supervision of Miss Myrtle Wilson. Any girl is eligible for membership who is, or has been, in the Home Economics Department. The purpose of the club is to establish social relations and to complete extra-curricular activities. At the first meeting a fashion show was given for the club members and their friends. Through the kindness of a local dress shop, many beautiful costumes were displayed by lovely models, some of whom were club members. At the second meeting, Mr. Sydney Teller, from the Irene Kaufman Settlement, spoke on "Little Women Up-to-Date." Afterwards there was dancing, and singing of club songs composed by the members. The third meeting was a buffet supper, with a delicious menu; and the fourth was a picnic supper, which gave the girls experience in cooking over an open fire.

The Hi-Y Club, to which any boy interested in its work may belong, is composed of a group of boys from all the classes. Its purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community the highest standards of Christian character.

Members of this club enjoyed a varied program of activities this year. There have been several inspirational lectures, given by such men as Dr. Caruthers and Dr. Evans. Frequently the fellows took part in group discussions whose subjects were related to their lives and interests. The athletic program includes frequent "swims" and basketball; this year a club basketball team was organized. The Hi-Y-Girl Reserves dance, to which the whole school was invited, and a party for the members of these two groups only, were two important dates on this year's social calendar.

Mr. Glenn Smith is the faculty advisor.

The president and her cabinet adopted a cleverly planned year book which aided materially our success. Regular meetings are held on Mondays at four o'clock. The first Monday is a business meeting; the second a program; the third has a guest speaker and the fourth is known as "hobby day," at which time each girl is given an opportunity to pursue her own particular hobby. Each month the Reserves carry out a special social service project. In November, Thanksgiving baskets were filled. In December, Christmas boxes were made and filled for the veterans and carols are sung on Christmas eve.

Other social projects are: a visit to childrens homes, a trip to the Marine hospital, a farewell party for the seniors and one or more benefit sales.

The big social events of the year are the Girl Reserves-Hi-Y Dance and the "Newsie" party when the girls are hostesses to the newsboys of the town.

MEALS... Three for a Penny, with NATURAL GAS

ONE cent's worth of Natural Gas, at the rates charged here, will cook a meat dinner for three people; or bake 50 potatoes; or bake 17 one-pound loaves of bread; or bake 16 pies; or roast 5 pounds of beef; or toast 175 slices of bread, both sides.

Scientific tests show that, comparatively, cooking with gas costs

$\frac{1}{2}$ as much as cooking with coal,

$\frac{1}{3}$ as much as cooking with gasoline,

$\frac{1}{4}$ as much as cooking with electricity,

$\frac{1}{4}$ as much as cooking with oil.

Figured over a period of years, the pennies saved daily in cooking with gas mount up to hundreds of dollars.

USHERS

The ushers, the group of students who contribute much to the success of our chapel and to the high school, are seventeen in number. It is they, who are always willing to do little courtesies for the students in helping them find chapel seats; and when the students bring guests to chapel it is the ushers who secure seats for them. It is they who give their services when the school presents plays or operas. Again little courtesies are shown to the students and guests.

The ushers are chosen each year by the Student Council for capable leadership, responsibility, and courteous manners. To the ushers who gave their services so willingly and who contributed much to make our school worth while, the students express their appreciation.

A BUDDING POET

A poet sits down and writes a line,
In value it's worth two of mine,
I seek in vain for words to fit
So I can write my little skit.

So that my lines will turn out right,
In matching words I am not blest,
I'll never make a poet I guess.

Perhaps few of the residents of our town realize that, tucked away on the fourth floor, is a miniature Greenwich Village. Here are designs for screens, color circles, posters, and all the paraphernalia of a busy studio. It is here that the Art Club holds its indoor meetings; at some of these, last winter, the members divided into two groups, one doing soap-carving and the other modelling plaster of Paris book ends. At one particularly enjoyable meeting, Cy Hungerford gave an illustrated talk. Last fall the club took a trip to the International Exhibit of Fine Arts; and in the Spring several of the members went on outdoor sketching expeditions.

The faculty sponsors who aid and encourage these budding artists are Mr. William Price and Mr. Francis Yetter.

THE RESULT OF A SENIOR PHOTOGRAPH

Envy always arises in me when I look at the peaceful and contented expression on the face of some person in a photograph. It must be a wonderful thing to have such nerve control as is plainly demonstrated by that placid countenance. The results of my recent trip to the photographer brought me as near nervous prostration as I ever care to be. The feverish preparation at home, the long wait in the reception room, and finally the administration of the dreaded ordeal were enough to try the nerves of even a handsome person, let alone the feelings of one such as I. From baby-hood I have been cursed by a few stiff straight hairs which persist in standing erect at the crown of my head. This particular evening they were again standing up in all their glory, looking even more prominent than ever before. No amount of combing seemed to have any effect; in fact, it seemed to make matters alarmingly worse. All through that eternity that I spent in the waiting room, I worked feverishly over the unruly lock.

I put on my hat and sat down to await developments. After a time which must have been a good fifteen minutes, I removed the hat, and was about to sing a stanza or two of "Hail, the Conquering Hero" when slowly but far too surely, the accursed nuisance rose again to its accustomed place accompanied by many more neighboring hairs that had joined in the defiant stand. My turn came and I entered with unsteady step and with what I felt was the last of my energy; I grinned a sickly smile in the direction of the photographer. I had completely given up. All was in his hands now, and I didn't care what happened to me. The pictures were taken, and I might add looked entirely too much like me to be good. The obtrusive hairs were removed from the finished picture very easily, and I have never felt more helpless than when I realized that all my work, worry, and wasted energy had been for naught. Thank goodness it will be many a day before I will again be forced to submit to such punishment.

To have naturalization;
To learn the rules and regulations
Of a citizen to the nation;
Then to form a combination
With the citizen and nation
That will need no explanation
In the future generation.

GIRL'S COUNCIL

See page 102 for Picture

Our "women's club", the Girls' Council, works for the welfare and happiness of girls. It is divided into committees under the following heads: Bulletin, which keeps a board filled with interesting and helpful articles; Building Inspection, which maintains tidiness in the halls and washrooms; Social; School Affairs, which gives suggestions on school conduct; Personal Well Being, whose field is personal appearance, conduct, and etiquette; and Welfare, which sends cards to girls who are ill. The results of their work are given to the health classes through bulletins. To form the membership of Girls' Council, one girl is chosen from each health class and, once chosen, serves on the council until she has been graduated. The Council has two annual functions: one is a tea and the other a banquet. They also take charge of a chapel week, holding the annual Girls' Chapel at this time.

SOPHOMORE ELECTIONS

Willis Dickson was elected president. Willis has been outstanding in his class since he was the 9A president. The other officers elected are: vice president, Jack Colbaugh; secretary, Jean Geiser; historian, William Hurtt. Student Council representatives elected at the same time are: Myra Ann Graf, Earl Marshall, and James Daubenspeck. Nelson Brenne- man, Dorothy Ulrich, Dorothy McKeever, Peggy Blair, Rosemary Smith, Lois Snowden, Peggy Gray and Margaret Ann Johnson made up the nominating committee.
